City OKs W-L Park Project

Council Approves UR Resolutions

Lions Plan Renovation For Area

A small group of local business men and interested citizens met with Cameron City Council and Urban Renewal Agency board members Tuesday evening at Methodist Fellowship Hall.

prepared, he added. Loans will be available from HUD at three percent for qualified applicants. Money for these loans will not come out of the City's urban renewal funds, he added.

Resolutions officially approved by the City Council following the meeting brings actual start of urban renewal a step closer, with final Washington approval assured.

Also present at the public hearing to answer questions were members of Cameron Urban Renewal Agency and Phil Kulbes, representing Bernard Johnson Associates, engineers for the project.

Mayor E. A. Perrin, answering a question about possible starting date, said the Council approval, required by Housing and Urban Development (HUD), clears the plan for forwarding to Washington where approval should come within six weeks.

Arrangements for relocations can start then, Perrin said, and property owners can be making plans for renovating or moving, according to the approved plan.

Applications for loans to rebuild, renovate, etc., can also be

A. W. McCullin Sr., chairman of the local UR board, emphasized that the project "is going through." He said the project is definite and complete, and Perrin added that "patience" is required for anyone "dealing with the Government."

Several other questions from affected businessmen were discussed during the meeting. McCullin noted that each business may have different problems and the local UR Agency will work with individuals affected by the project.

A Lions Club proposal to sponsor renovation of Wilson-Ledbetter Park was approved by City Councilmen Tuesday during a short meeting preceding the public hearing on Cameron's urban renewal project.

The agenda included a request for permission to open a billiard parlor, and a discussion of the city's trash pickup problems. James Camp, Ed Laywell, and Dr. George Bowman met with Councilmen and Mayor E. A. Perrin to present the Noon Lions Club proposal.

The local club voted to help finance the project with funds up to $1000 a year for three years if necessary, according to Camp, president of the club.

Additional, or matching funds, are available through the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Camp said, to cities for such renovating projects. The city would be the "contact force" and the club's donations would provide the matching funds.

The renovating would include cleaning out and enlarging the lake, a general cleanup of the park, and installation of playground equipment and picnic areas.

Once the lake was cleaned and stocked with fish, Camp said, the "pollution" problem now existing would "take care of itself."

Approval of the project was granted by unanimous decision, and council appointed a planning committee. Plans will be subject to Council approval.

O. B. Autrey asked for permission to open a billiard parlor, or pool hall, City Secy. Buddy Fuller read a letter of recommendation from the Georgetown Chief of Police, stating that a similar business operated by Autrey in Georgetown was well-run and caused no trouble.

The Council moved to grant the request, subject to zoning regulations and the applicant's payment of required license fees.

TRASH PICKUP

Mayor Perrin reported on his observation ride with the trash pickup force, and suggested a resolution be adopted regulating the placing of brush and limbs to aid workers in collecting.

He said the "stuff was a hodge-podge" of piled up, tangled limbs and brush, with leaves piled on top in some cases. Residents will be requested to cut limbs into four-foot lengths, and stack them parallel to the curb, with leaves in a separate pile.

The city will also try to have the dump grounds open on weekends for individuals to haul dry trash. An attendant is needed, however, before the grounds can be opened on Saturday afternoons and Sundays.

111 With F.M.L.

Aren't you proud and hopeful, Cameron and Milam County, for the success Folk Fete is? The dances Saturday night climaxed an incredible voluntary effort by hundreds of people supported by some 4,000 to 5,000 who attended the various elements.

Numbers of cities represented outside Milam will make an impressive reminder that Cameron could, that Milam might and they did.

There was splendor incostume and float Friday and Saturday. There were rhythm and reason and co-operation this town can be proud to have brought together. It is an example of what people can do when they see a way and go that way.

This is strength. This is a base from which an even greater Folk Fete will develop next year. People throughout the community now talk of what next year can bring; certainly, there will be a next year for this Folk Fete.

It is perhaps understatement to say Cameron is on the festive map as it has gone on the civic and industrial development map.

Cameron's identity is its diversity. And this diversity is seen in unity. And a town and county can ask little more for a public image of its place and people.

Tribute goes to the organizers, co-chairmen Mrs. Perry Holder and Miss Mildred Thornton and the expertise of folk dance sponsors, Fete Belles, the pilgrimage homeowners, the pageant, the beauty contestants, the dance groups, musicians, float builders and an amazing group of volunteers who manned booths in City Park both days and presentations at Cameron Library.

What thousands saw hundreds do was excellence and there is little more to be expected of a volunteer effort its first year out.

Organization will work out refinements and improvements and growth for next year. But the task will begin soon in this organization as reports and comments are gathered for consolidation and review.

We wish the whole of Texas some 11 millions could have seen Folk Fete, provided with excellent weather, unfold, perhaps a segment of people will bring the estimates of some 4,000 to 5,000 to double that number next June.

Someone mentioned a tentative starting time of June 10, 1971. It might be well for Central Texans to mark their calendars. We can expect a lot from this beginning.

Wreck Kills O. Hornung

Otto W. Hornung, 69, of Lexington, an owner of Hornung Hatchery of Cameron, was killed at 12:30 p.m. Friday in a two-truck collision.

The accident happened six miles north of Lexington on Highway 77. Hornung's truck collided with a truck-tractor driven by Harry Wayne Yorgensen of Palestine.

Yorgensen was reported in good condition in a Rockdale hospital.

Mr. Hornung was a farmer and rancher and a partner in the Cameron hatchery.

Funeral service was held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Lexington United Methodist Church, the Rev. Elmer Beck officiating. Burial was in the Methodist Cemetery at Lexington.

Surviving are a brother, John Hornung of Lexington; and three sisters, Mrs. Arthur G. Elley and Miss Mary Hornung, both of Cameron, and Miss Emma Hornung of Robstown.

State Alert On Polio Outbreak

Milam County Health Unit said this week that no cases of polio have been reported in Milam County although an "outbreak" of the disease in Texas has been confirmed by the State Health Department.

Polio cases have been reported in Hidalgo County, Cameron County (Brownsville), Kingsville, Mathis and Abilene. All of the stricken have been infants, ages 7 months to 21 months. The State Health Department said reports of paralytic symptoms were among children from low-income, usually Mexican-American families indicating the polio vaccine is not being taken by this group.

One state death has been attributed to the Type 1 polio and 17 cases have been reported. Mass inoculation against the disease were sponsored by the Milam County Medical Association in 1962 and 1963. Since that time the oral vaccine has been available from local doctors or at the Milam Health Unit office in Cameron.

Inoculation is recommended at age two months with a second inoculation at age 4 months and a booster at age six years or before entering school.

The State Health Department said the current outbreak of Type 1 paralytic polio is the first time the disease has reached into the under one-year age bracket to any extent.

Milbur Field Schedules New Wildcat

The Milbur Field in south Milam continued to be the area for drilling activity in the county, with one new wildcat scheduled last weekend, following two wildcats scheduled earlier that confirmed reports they would be drilled.

Newest wildcat for the field, scheduled Saturday, will be drilled by Ka-Hug Enterprises of Houston. It will be their No. 1 P. R. Underwood and permitted to 5,200 feet. Location is on a lease in David Houston Survey about 6 miles south of Rockdale.

Drill site for the Underwood will be a mile northeast of Clark Oil and Refining Company's No. 1 Cotton which was brought in as an excellent producer about three years ago.

The No. 1 Cotton created a good deal of interest among oilmen and geologists at the time, since it was believed producing from a different sand bar from other wells in the field.

Some geologists believe the Milbur Field lies along an ancient shoreline or beach front of the Gulf of Mexico and production is from the basal Wilcox there.

Clark Oil and Refining's No. 2 Cotton, however, was a dry hole; it was believed located in an area where the sand bar had pinched out.

The other two new wildcats, both 4,000 footers, and scheduled a week earlier, will be drilled by White Shield Oil & Gas Corporation of Tulsa, Oklahoma. They will be the major company's No. 1 P.H. Perry located on a 250 acre lease, and the No. 1 W.T. Hogan on nearby acreage.

Both tests are in David Vanveighten Survey.

Ledden Transferred To Hunt Co. Jail

Hunt County Sheriff R. W. Woods and Ranger Scott transferred R. E. Ledden from Milam County jail to Hunt County jail Tuesday on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Ledden was arrested May 20 and placed in Milam County jail with bond set at $20,000. The bond was reduced to $8,000 in District Court on June 4 after an appeal by Ledden's attorneys, but he failed to post the reduced bond and had remained in the Milam jail until this week.

The Fort Worth man was implicated in receiving property taken from the Western Auto Store in Cameron and in a series of Central Texas thefts.

FB SUPPER CANCELED

The Milam County Farm Bureau family supper scheduled for Saturday, June 20, has been canceled due to the serious illness of one of the committee members. A new date for the supper will be announced later.

Grass Fire Danger High

A weekend grass fire and a tractor fire at Marlow ended a month-long 'quiet' for the Cameron Fire Department and brought a warning of caution against potential grass fires.

Sheriff Carl Black said high grass now starting to dry increased the danger of grass fires for the next two months. "People need to be cautious with fire during these dry months, particularly hunters," Black said. He attributed most of the grass fires to cigarettes and cigars thrown from passing cars.

Of Mountain And Iceberg . . .

The line between repression and anarchy is the line we seek in today's world.

That line knows reason and accepts questions from youth and from adult because they share the fruits of an abundant world accumulating a mountain of debris and an iceberg of rigidity.

Youth is never as certain as maturity seems to be. Youth lets on while maturity enmeshes. We all are said to be youth wrinkled over, squalling red-faced into a world, even our civilized world, daily more indifferent to the individual.

As if to protect ourselves from him, we are arbitrary in anger, easily forgetting our own whims of youth, less serious than the present young generation and less challenging to the adult.

If our view of youth is so rigid as to sustain a corresponding rigidity, we are compelled to repress. If we allow protest in abandon, we condone anarchy.

There is that line along which reasonable men, young and old, must find their way. We see moderates taking the course in statements on the college campus.

We see moderates in adult levels now acting along this line. They act in good faith and move within invisible bounds of reason. If this attempt fails, the choice, re-stated, is ours: repression or anarchy.

When we consider these alternatives, a thoughtful course between is the only one which beckons; if this fails, both generations may opt out, turning the lights out with them.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

HE NEVER SAID 'CAMPUS BUMS'

President Nixon never called them "Campus bums."

Some writers of "letters to the editor" and some columnists continue to include this misstatement in their literary efforts. As recent as May 29, 1970, a Life magazine editorial included the line, "...President Nixon's reference to campus bums."

This may be the time to set the record straight.

We quote Senator Robert P. Griffin (Mich.) "...I had the privilege of being present last evening when President Nixon briefed the members of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs and the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations."

"Among the questions directed to the President--and he indicated that we were free to report on this very interesting meeting--was one that referred to his use of the word 'bum' with reference to some who engage in violence on the campuses."

"The President related that he used that word in a discussion that took place very soon after he had received a letter from a professor at Stanford University, a very distinguished scholar, who had worked for some 20 years compiling notes and research material on a subject in which he was deeply interested and concerning which he had hoped to write an important paper. He had written to the President and related how a building at Stanford was broken into and one of the students had destroyed his 30 years of scholarly work."

"Then the President said, 'The guy who did that is a bum.' And I said, 'I would go further and say that on many campuses there is a hard core group of students--and some who are not students--who spend much of their time fermenting violence and who are much worse than bums. I refer to a group of radical revolutionaries who are dedicated and doing their best to overthrow the Government of the United States."

"I have no doubt that the overwhelming majority of college students are not involved in these violent, illegal confrontations. Many may be sympathetic to some extent, but I am convinced that 90 per cent, or more, of the students in our colleges and universities are interested in going to school to get an education before they start out trying to reform the world. And this is the way it should be." (Senator Griffin worked his way through college. He has been quoted as saying that he knew 40 different ways to cook hamburger.)

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

The ladies to the rescue. The wife of a Stanford University professor, who asked not to be publicly identified, called and asked the outraged professor to come immediately to the Center for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences. She told him she knew how to retrieve material from fires. She, together with thirty-two center wives who donated their time, estimate that about 60 per cent of the 5,000 cards can be partially salvaged.

We don't know if they offered to salvage the "bum."—J.C.

LETTERS

June 15, 1970

Dear Mr. Luecke:

The Folk Fete was fabulous. The stories and pictures of homes in the Cameron Herald were lovely. It is heartening to know that there are still patriotic citizens who are willing to spend so much energy and money to honor their distinguished ancestors who made America great.

Blood Tests and Paternity

To hear the girl's story, told tearfully on the witness stand, there could be no doubt that the defendant was the father of her baby. But the results of the blood tests shed a different light on the matter. The tests showed the following results:

The girl had one type of blood;
the defendant had another type of blood; and the baby had still another type of blood.

Since a baby's blood must match either his mother's or his father's, some other man—some one with the baby's blood type—must have been the real father. The upshot was that the girl's charge was discredited and the defendant cleared of responsibility.

In this fashion, blood tests have saved hundreds of men from a false charge of paternity. These tests, if properly conducted, are now accepted almost everywhere either as positive proof or at least strong evidence of non-paternity.

However, they have one major drawback. While they are useful in showing who is not the father, they are seldom useful in showing who is the father.

For example, suppose that in the case above, the baby and the defendant did have the same blood type. That would mean the defendant could indeed be the father. But so could any other man with that same type of blood. Thus, mere similarity of blood cannot ordinarily be relied on to pin paternity on a specific defendant.

This means that in a typical paternity suit, the woman has little to gain and much to lose from blood tests. If she refuses to agree to the tests, either for herself or for the baby, may a court order them anyhow?

Courts usually do have that power. In one case, the woman objected that the tests were not impartial, because they could only help the defendant's side of the case, not hers. Nevertheless, the court ordered her to submit to the testing procedure.

"A lawsuit is a search for truth," said the court, "and not a sporting proposition or game in which rules should afford each side an equal chance of winning."

Election Law Reforms Sought By Texas Courts

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Pressure from the courts may move the Legislature to massive election law reforms next year. At least two major Texas cases which could have far-reaching consequences for the state election processes and political system are pending in three-judge federal courts.

In one, Corpus Christi, San Antonio and San Marcos plaintiffs challenge the constitutionality of the annual voter registration requirement and the January 31 registration deadline. They ask reopening of registration after the June runoff primaries to allow voters until October to qualify for the November general election. More than 30 states already have a general election sign-up extension, and no state requires as early a close-off of registrations as Texas.

A second case tests validity of the candidates' filing fee system. An El Paso candidate for county commissioner and a Tarrant County candidate for county judge won places on the May primary ballot through court action when they pleaded they could not afford to pay the stiff filing fee.

A third case attacks the constitutionality of the statute denying aid to illiterate voters in marking ballots.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. acknowledges a great many changes are needed in the state election code. He is compiling a list of needs with an eye on court decisions and plans to contact legislators about them soon.

Dies indicates he is inclined to favor the recommendation that May-June primary dates be shoved back until August and September (as some 14 states now provide).

He also tentatively likes the idea of making voter registrations good for four years.

And the state, believes Dies, "is going to have to reach the conclusion candidates cannot continue to completely finance primaries."

LEGISLATIVE DECORUM

A House committee studying ways to improve the legislature's decorum and public image indicated it wants curbs on the familiar practice of lawmakers' voting for absentees on an electronic machine.

Committee members couldn't bring themselves to condemn "proxy" voting for members absent from the floor for a few minutes to take telephone calls from constituents. But they frowned on votes cast for legislators who are truants from the capitol.

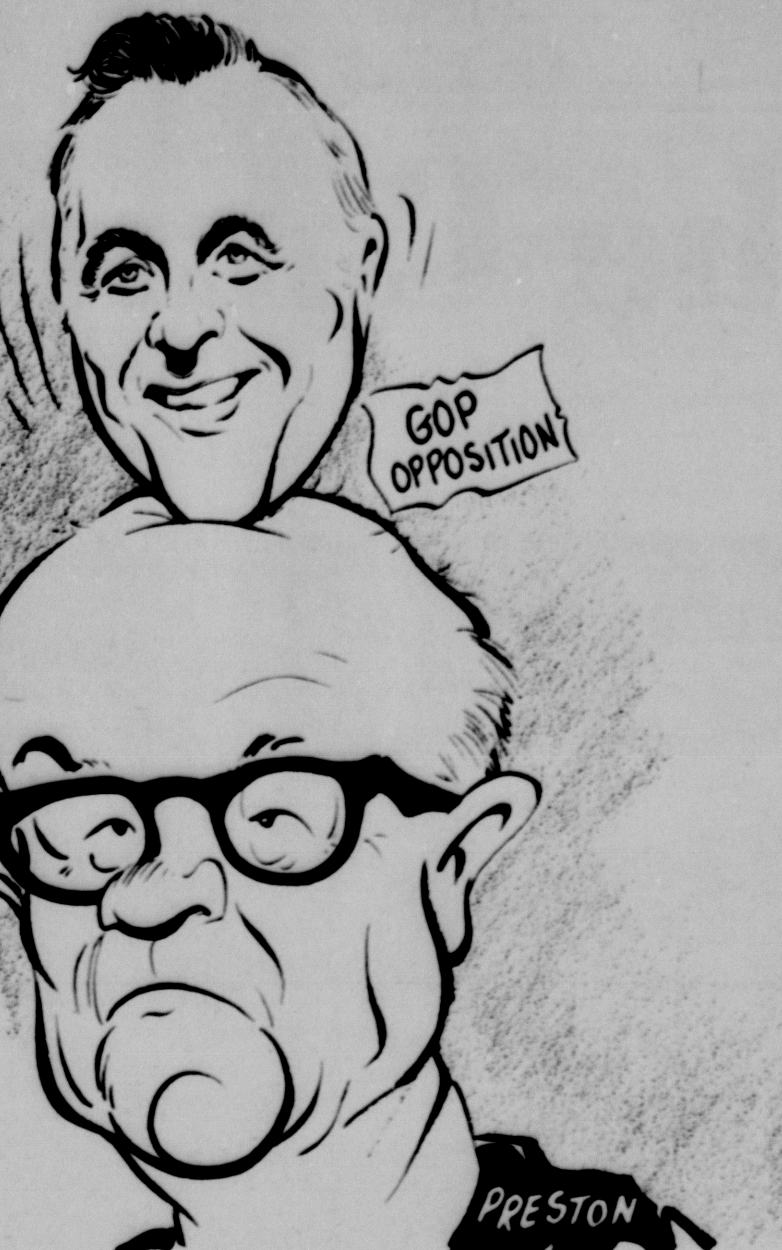

Committee headed by Rep. John E. (Ned) Blain of El Paso, discussed a variety of proposals to make the House of Representatives look and act better.

Among other major suggestions: a glassed-in spectators' gallery, desk-to-desk floor telephone communications and overhead projectors to display hasty floor amendments to legislation.

DRUG MEMO SIGNED

High-ranking state officials signed a "memorandum of understanding" with the U.S. Department of Justice Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. Memorandum formalizes the present working agreement and outlines areas of responsibility for state agencies and the federal bureau in which mutual efforts and cooperation will be necessary or desirable.

Overall purpose of the memorandum is to establish and

THE 'EGGERS' AND I

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Some people are saying the world was never in as bad a shape as it is now, but as I sit out here on this Johnson grass farm and examine it through the newspapers I wonder about that.

For example, take the astronauts. No sooner do they get a good look at what's outside the world out there in forlorn space and get safely back than they take a desk job in Washington or run for some office, here on the good earth.

Things have a way of balancing out. Take the colleges. According to an article I read last night, over 300 college presidencies are vacant, just not enough capable men willing to take on the job, even with combat pay. Yet what happens? College riots shut down about that many universities and so, what's the problem?

Or take government employees. For years they dreaded to see Washington's birthday for example fall on Saturday or Sunday, thus knocking them out of what otherwise would have been an extra holiday. So what happens? They convince Congress it's the holiday, not the birthday, that counts, so now if the birthday falls on Saturday they get Friday off; if on Sunday, they get Monday off. I don't care what the problem is, if a man thinks long and hard enough, there's a solution, although I don't know what would have happened if Washington and Lincoln had been born on the same day of the month, or if Columbus had arrived here on Christmas. I presume however that Washington has a commission drawing up emergency plans in the event some future holiday-worth hero gets born on an established holiday.

The problem wouldn't come up however if they'd put me in charge of declaring holidays. I declare one whenever I feel like it, having no patience with a man who waits till Congress tells him when to go fishing. What does Congress know about when the fish are biting?

Yours faithfully,

Bush Speaks Out About Big Thicket

Congressman George Bush, in a statement issued Friday, June 12, to the Senate Subcommittee on Parks and Recreation, said that the "ecological value of the Big Thicket is unequalled by any other area in the United States."

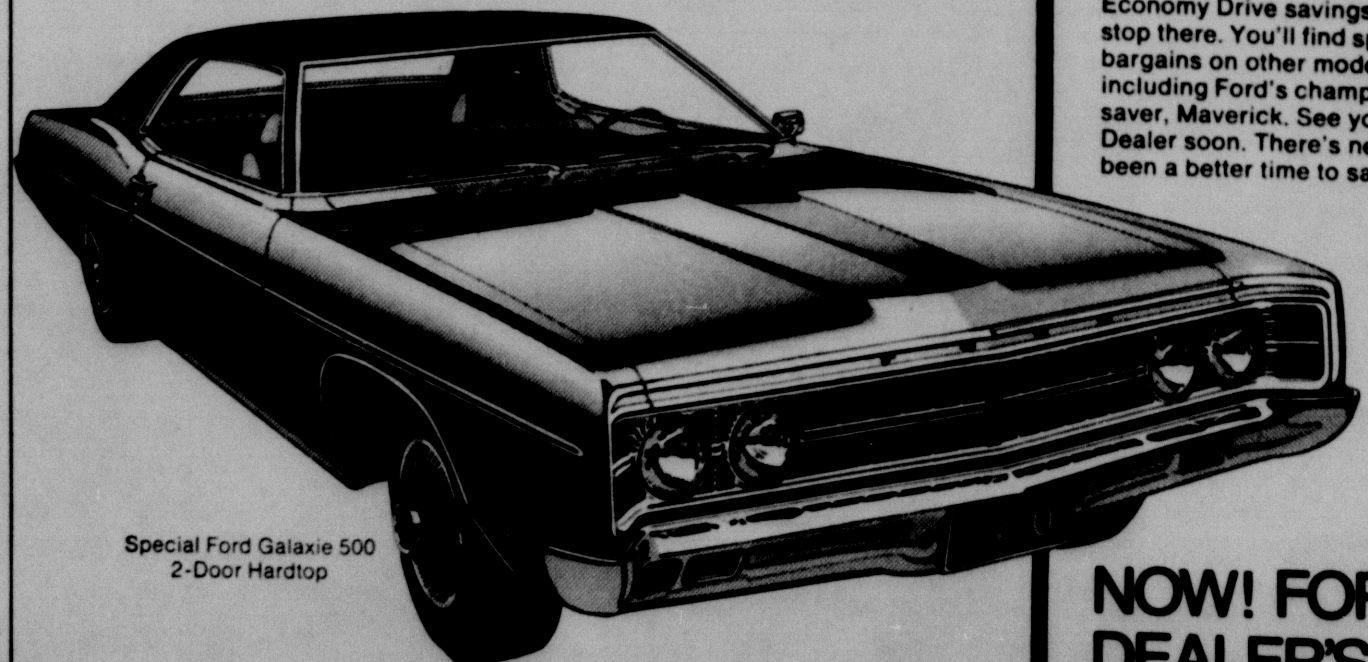

Bush made the statement before the subcommittee as it began hearings on setting aside parts of the Big Thicket area in East Texas for a national park.

"At a time when we are becoming more and more aware of the importance of our environment and the necessity of maintaining the ecological balance," he said, "the Big Thicket can be of tremendous scientific value."

Bush went on a fact-finding tour of the Big Thicket with several federal officials and ecological experts last month.

In his statement, he talked about the aesthetic value of the Big Thicket, but added, "I do not mean that the Thicket should be turned into solely a tourist recreation area. I feel the emphasis should be upon conservation, but conservation in such a manner that people can have the experience of becoming part of this virgin wilderness."

Date Set For Field Crops Tour

By J. D. Moore

July 13 has been set for the date to tour the current field crops test under way in Milam County.

The purpose of the tour is to give local farmers and industry people an opportunity to evaluate new crop techniques. Various company field representatives will accompany the group to discuss new varieties as well as add to the discussion of current topics of interest.

All those interested in agriculture are invited to mark their calendar for this event. Additional information will be announced.

RD MEETING

Rodney Holcombe, Milam County health inspector will have charge of the program for the regular meeting of the Milam County Rural Development Committee which meets on June 26, at 2 p.m. in the Rockdale State Bank.

According to Holcombe, a representative from the state office will speak on steps to take in meeting the health problems in rural as well as urban areas.

Area and community leaders are invited to attend these meetings and help make Milam county a more attractive place.

FERTILIZERS

Current tests at the Blackland Experiment Station at Temple shows that nitrogen fertilizer put down on December 4 shows an 80 to 90 percent leach-out by May 4.

Nitrogen fertilizer put down January 13 shows only a 30 to 40 percent leach-out.

In 1969, cotton plants at the Temple station treated topically with 4 lbs. of Benlate had 4% diseased plants at the end of the season as compared to 36 percent dead cotton plants in the untreated plots.

3 Citians Will Attend Dedication

The newest in a system of eight major reservoirs in the central portion of the Brazos River basin will be officially dedicated in ceremonies Friday, June 19, at which Governor Preston Smith will be the dedicatory speaker.

Oxshier Smith, BRA finance committee chairman, Niley Smith and B. L. Franke, of Cameron are attending.

Officials of the Brazos River Authority said the ceremonies will be held starting at 4:00 p.m. at the visitors' observation point overlooking the huge new dam at the entrance to the large horseshoe shaped bend named for an early-day booster of Central Texas, Jacob De Cordova.

The dam to be dedicated Friday bears the name of DeCordova while the lake of 8,500 surface acres and a reach of more than 30 miles upstream is named for the City of Granbury which is located on its banks and about seven air miles upstream of the dam.

A. L. Brooks, Jr., president of the Brazos River Authority, which constructed and is operating and maintaining the reservoir project, said special invitations have been mailed to numerous persons who had a part in planning and building the project but that he has issued a blanket invitation to "all Texans to come see the beautiful and unique reservoir project."

The project is unique, Brooks said, because it was planned, constructed and will be operated and maintained without the use of money from any tax source.

Produce Floods Market

Fresh produce floods the markets as items are hauled from Texas truck farms. To insure best value in buying fresh fruits and vegetables, here are suggestions from Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Now is the time for enjoying cantaloupe, and due to modern transportation facilities, the cantaloupe season is a long one. Quality melons, full of flavor, will be available in the weeks ahead.

Ripe cantaloupes should be wrapped in waxed paper and placed in a plastic bag or other covered container before storing in the refrigerator, since the odor can be picked up by other foods, Mrs. Clyatt reminds.

Oranges, apples, pineapples, bananas and strawberries are other fruits worthy of consideration, and stocks of canned vegetables and tomato products are still heavy and budget buys are abundant in grocery departments.

Fresh vegetables from nearby truck farms are coming to market and quality is very good considering weather conditions of recent weeks. Corn, squash, collards, mustard greens, black-eye and purple hull peas, carrots, head lettuce, cucumbers, potatoes, green onions and radishes are among the more economical choices.

Retail beef levels are about the same as last week with special features on chuck cuts, steaks, hamburger and corned beef. Special emphasis is also being placed on standing rib roast -- 4th and 5th cuts and liver.

Canned and smoked hams offer the conscientious shopper excellent food buys in the pork family and Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks and chops are featured in several markets. Bacon is also being featured in some stores.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

President Nixon has proclaimed the week of July 19 as National Farm Safety Week and calls attention to the needless loss of lives and crippling injuries to thousands of farm residents each year. Farm safety, points out the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, should be a year-round program on each of the state's farms and ranches.

Bentsen Cites Health Ed Needs

Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, said today he places high priorities on education and health in his approach to national needs.

"There are still too many American children who are deprived of a first-class education, too many adults who are not being trained for better jobs, and too many families who lack the advantages of adequate health care," Bentsen said.

"Texas has its share of these problems, and it's essential that the national, state and local governments work in concert for the improvements needed."

Bentsen reiterated his opposition to a guaranteed annual income as proposed by the Nixon Administration.

"We must reform our outmoded welfare program, but I think we will compound our problem if we guarantee income, no matter what kind of sugar-coated title the Administration attaches to the plan."

"The cost will be astronomical to the taxpayers, and the end result will be to perpetuate yet another system that emphasizes the dole more than it does job training and job opportunities," Bentsen said.

Burlington 4-H News

June is a busy month for the Burlington 4-H Club, 4-H Round-up was June 3-4 at A&M University at College Station.

Belinda Helpert received a blue ribbon in the Home Improvement division for her demonstration entitled "Our Bewildering World of Color," placing 5th in state.

4-H'ers had a hayride and weiner roast on the fifth. Drinks, chips and dips added to the outing.

The regular meeting on the 9th elected new officers. These officers are:

Belinda Helpert, president; Donna Jo Crenan, vice-president; Jeanette Warschak, secretary; Kathy Tomek, treasurer; Jim Crenan, reporter; Josie Tomek, parliamentarian; Rose Warschak, Ruth Tomek, Earl Kleypas, and Terry Dörner, recreation leaders; Carolyn Helpert, council delegate.

Meetings at the County Extension Office are planning 4-H Camp which is to be held June 20 at Simon George Hall.

A recordbook workshop was held on Wednesday, June 10 to help 4-H'ers with their recordbooks.

June 19 is the day of the bi-monthly 4-H dance to be held in Belton. All Senior 4-H'ers are invited to attend.

The Milam County Dress Review will be in Rockdale on June 30. All 4-H'ers are asked to enter and everyone is invited to attend.

SCREW WORM ALERT ISSUED FOR STATE; NEW CASES FOUND

Positive identification of new screwworm cases in far West Texas, hundreds of miles west of previously identified cases, emphasizes the importance for stockmen over the entire state to be on the alert for this livestock pest.

Mission Screwworm Eradication Program officials urge all livestock producers to do the best possible job of checking their animals for wounds of any kind and to treat them with recommended materials.

If worms are found in a wound, a sample should be collected and sent to the Mission Lab for identification. "We must know where the cases are in order to treat them and knock out infestations," reminds Dr. S. C. Gartman, veterinarian in charge.

Summer Heat Affects Dairy Cow's Production

COLLEGE STATION

Dairy cows don't have an air-conditioned office when working conditions become hot and humid in the summer, but they do their best.

Decreased production and other adverse effects by hot weather are reported by A.M. Meekma, Extension dairy specialist. When the temperatures rise above 80 degrees and the nights are hot and humid, dairy cows are more concerned with their own comfort rather than making milk, the specialist said.

Meekma has reports of research work that shows the effects of temperature and humidity on milk production.

Arizona research studies show that an increase in temperature also decreases the butterfat test if the level of milk production remains the same. An increase of ten degrees decreased the test by 0.1 per cent.

In research work at Missouri, Holsteins were shown to be most susceptible to heat and humidity. Production by Jerseys and Brown Swiss revealed that these breeds were more tolerant, however, individual cows within a breed varied greatly in response to the weather.

The effects of heat stress have been studied by the University of Arizona and results showed the benefits from a complete refrigerated enclosure for dairy cows were not enough to justify the extra costs and labor.

Other results in a test of evaporatively cooled convective overhead shade were encouraging. During June, July and August the cooled herd produced a similar group of milk per cow per day.

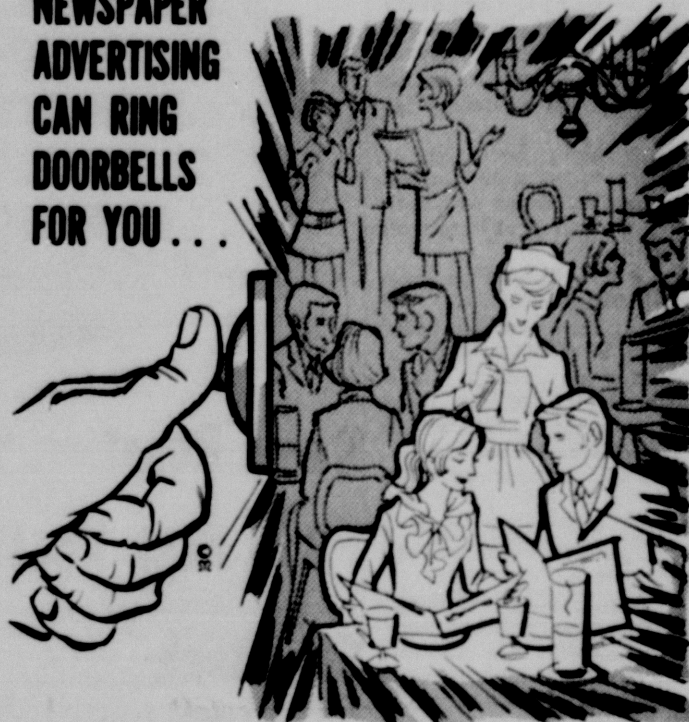

More important, the breed efficiency of the cooled cow was twice that of the cattle subjected to the heat and humidity over a two year period.

The Arizona scientists found one objectionable feature of the cooled shade. The ground became wet and difficult to maintain an acceptable condition. The future plans include expansion of the test and program to define the climate necessary to optimize net returns.

Pulitzer Prize Winners To Head TPA Program

Texas Press Association's 91st Annual Summer Convention, June 18-20 at Houston's glamorous Astroworld Hotel in the Astrodome, will feature some of the nation's most eminent newsmen as guests, said TPA President George Hawkes, publisher of the Arlington Citizen-Journal.

Heading the list will be Texas' own Pulitzer Prize winner, Kenneth Towery, now assistant director of Press and Publications, U.S. Information Agency, Washington, D.C.; and Hal Boyle, Associated Press news correspondent and one of the all-time greats among feature writers, who won a Pulitzer Prize for his coverage of three wars.

Towery received his Prize for his part, as editor of the Cero Daily Record in 1955, in exposing corruption in the Veterans' Land Program of the State.

Entertainment for TPAsers, their guests and families, is centered around the Astrodome and NASA, said President Hawkes. They will be guests of Judge Roy Hofheinz for a tour of the Astrodome and for refreshments.

SAN ANTONIO HOST TO BAYER REUNION

The annual Bayer reunion will be held in San Antonio, June 28 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Harlandale Civic Center, 115 West Southcross Ave.

Each family needs only to bring food for lunch.

Snakes Move Slowly
Snakes seem to move fast, but actually their maximum speed has been clocked at about five miles per hour.

The Houston Chronicle will be host for a group tour of the National Aeronautics Space Center, on Friday afternoon.

Included in the business of the convention will be election of officers, board meetings, committee reports and representation of the 1970 Texas Newspaper Contest Winners.

Assisting Hawkes in supervision of the convention will be TPA First Vice President Ellie Hopkins, Longview News-Journal; and Second Vice-President Rigby Owen Sr., Conroe Courier.

Dad's Day Doings

Let the children help prepare dinner on Father's Day! It will delight them to be a part in pleasing their dad. They can prepare a crisp salad of lettuce, tomatoes and radishes to accompany his steak. Or, they can set the table, arranging in front of his place of honor the carving set and hot pad for the roast. If barbecued beefburgers are dad's bag, the children can shape the ground beef into patties.

M. Darilek Wins $500 Scholarship

AUSTIN

Michael J. Darilek of Cameron and Connie Janda LaGrange are winners of college scholarships given by the Wholesale Beer Distributors of Texas for the first time this year.

Each will receive $500 a year for two years -- with Darilek planning to use his at Temple Junior College at Temple and Miss Janda hers at Blinn College at Brenham.

The two were introduced at a WBDD Directors' meeting in Austin Saturday. President Stanley C. Green of Corpus Christi said the WBDD program will add two high school graduates a year from among children of employees of member distributors, thus providing aid for four students a year.

Both of this year's winners ranked near the tops of their graduating classes, and scored high on indices of college aptitude.

Darilek is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Darilek of Cameron, where his father is employed by Dana I. Kestenbaum's Falstaff Distributing Company.

Darilek ranked ninth in his class of 111. He had one of the highest scores recorded on the standard college tests.

In addition, Darilek was president of the National Honor Society for two years, lettered in football three years, won the Interscholastic League district competition in slide rule use and participated in the American Heritage club and baseball and track.

Pre-portioned and well-liked, pork chops are worthy of festive occasions as well as family meals. Right now they're in demand for dinners honoring graduate or for bridal or confirmation party.

Rib or loin pork chops are a good choice for any special menu, emphasizes meat expert Reba Staggs of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons raisins
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 can (8½ ounces) sliced pineapple
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 avocado, peeled

Brown pork chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season meat with salt and pepper. Add water and raisins. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes or until well done. Remove chops. Mix sugar and cornstarch. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Add pineapple syrup and vinegar to sugar-cornstarch mixture and stir into cooking liquid. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Return chops. Cut pineapple slices in half crosswise and add to chops. Cut avocado into 12 wedges and place on pineapple slices. Spoon sauce over all. Cover and cook slowly 5 minutes. 6 servings.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Beef Short Ribs.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. Short ribs come from the thinnest section of the ribs between plate and rib beef. The short ribs contain the rib bones (cross section of which is exposed) and alternating layers of lean and fat. They are usually rectangular in shape.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. By braising or by broiling, in range or on outdoor grill, after precooking. To braise, brown the ribs over low heat in a covered frying-pan for 1 hour, turning occasionally. Pour off drippings, season as desired and add a small amount of liquid. Cover tightly and cook over low heat for 1 hour longer or until meat is tender. To broil, first braise as directed. Then brush the ribs with barbecue sauce and broil 3 inches from the heat on an outdoor grill or in range broiler. Brush with sauce and turn occasionally for 20 to 30 minutes.

MRS. CHARLES ELLISON

Miss Carol Ann Olson Charles Ellison Wed

Miss Carol Ann Olson became the bride of Charles W. Ellison, Sunday, June 14, at 2:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Rosebud. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Olson of Route 1, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ellison of Route 3, Rosebud.

Dr. J. W. Ousley of Waco and the Reverend Eugene Marley, pastor, of Rosebud, performed the double ring ceremony in front of an altar decorated with baskets of gladiolas and greenery, and two candelabras of lighted tapers. The kneeling bench held a white brocade pillow.

Organist for the nuptial music was Miss Ruth Ann Garrett of Rosebud. Soloist was Miss Margaret Hargrove, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Eternal Life."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white bridal gown, fashioned with a peau de soie bodice featuring a heart shaped neckline made by two lace hearts meeting in the center. The lace yoke extended into long lace sleeves which ended in ruffles. The lace was trimmed in pearl sequins. The skirt was made of four lace flounces attached to a front panel of peau de soie. The back panel extended into a chapel length train. Her waist length veil was attached to a satin bow on top of pearl leaves, with a crystal drop in front.

Miss Cathy Olson of Rosebud was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a full length olive green crepe. Empire style dress with a gold velvet ribbon draped at the waistline. The bodice was sleeveless and featured a square neckline. Her headress was a green net should length veil attached to a cluster of net leaves centering a flower made of pearl strands and holding a crystal drop. She carried a colonial nosegay of white miniature daisies.

Bridesmaids were Miss Suzy Burns, Ellen Hickerson, and Barbara Herzog of Rosebud. Their ensembles were similar to that of the maid of honor. Flower girl was Miss Jane Ellison, sister of the groom. She wore a dress of white embroidered pique fashioned with short puffed sleeves trimmed in white lace, and a short gathered skirt featuring a gold velvet sash with a double bow at the back. Ringbearer was David Hailey of Rosebud. The two train-bearers were Debbie and Renee Stanford of Waco. Their dresses were fashioned like that of the flower girl.

Ellison Burns of Austin served as best man. Groomsmen were Rex Olson, brother of the bride, Raynard Fabianke of Rosebud, and Roland Stock of Austin. Mark and Wright Ellison of Rosebud, were candle lighters. Ushers were David Mitchell and Billy Maresh of Rosebud, and James Hailey of College Station. Miss Beverly Engel of Travis and Miss Kay Hogg of Rosebud registered the guests at the wedding.

The bride's mother chose an aqua crepe dress with ivory lace jacket, and ivory colored accessories. The groom's mother wore a powder blue dress of raw silk with matching accessories. Both had white orchid shoulder corsages.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth and an overlay of draped net, with a wide white satin runner in the center. Clusters of daisies caught up the net drapes at the corners and center of the table. The bride's bouquet formed the centerpiece. Miss Vickie Killgore served the cake and Miss Vicki Pomykal served the punch. Others in the house party were Mrs. Kenneth Hogg of Marlin, Miss Linda Thrasher and Mrs. Dick Ellison of Rosebud, and Mrs. Ellison Burns of Austin.

For traveling the bride wore a lavender knit dress with long sleeves and a V-neck. It was long waisted ending in white pleats. Her accessories were lavender, and her corsage was an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will live at Baileyville on the Lake this summer and at College Station this fall where they will both attend A&M.

Both are graduates of Rosebud High School, she in 1970 and he in 1967. She will be a freshman at A&M in the fall, and he will graduate from A&M in 1971. He is a member of Phi Alpha Phi, the honor society at A&M. The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents, Saturday, June 13, at 7:15 p.m. at Spring Lake Country Club.

USDA ORDERS HOUSTON CO. IN P&SA VIOLATION

Charles Burton and Otis Burton, operators of the Western Cattle Company, of Houston, have been ordered to stop violating payment requirements under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today.

The firm buys livestock throughout southeastern Texas. USDA Judicial Officer Thomas J. Flavin ordered the respondents to cease and desist from failing to pay, when due, the full purchase price for livestock.

P&SA requires meat packers to pay for livestock by the next day following purchase, unless credit has been arranged in advance.

The cease and desist order—like a permanent injunction—was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act.

One Application Can Supply Phosphorus For Several Years

Phosphorus fertilization is more flexible and more profitable through a large single application than year-to-year applications, reports Dr. Lloyd B. Fenn, soil chemist at the Texas A & M University Agricultural Research Center at McGregor.

The results of a study initiated in 1966 show that phosphorus can be applied in large amounts with results equal to yearly applications on Grand Prairie soils.

Per unit phosphorus application costs are cut, thus, making the use of recommended rates of nitrogen fertilizer more likely. The source of nitrogen would be that selling at the lowest per unit cost, points out Fenn.

By Vern Sanford

To hear some people tell it, the javelina stands ten feet tall and has a temper like a short-fused stick of dynamite, ready to go off at the slightest provocation.

Probably no other animal, certainly none in Texas, has a reputation that is blown so far out of proportion to its actual character. Actually javelina, is a fairly small creature weighing 40 pounds or less that will flee at the first hint of danger. There are some people like August Timmerman, game warden at Hondo, who actually run the pigs down with dogs and catch them alive.

Timmerman debunks this talk about the ferocity of the javelina. He says it isn't vicious at all. Probably much of this talk can be attributed to the javelina's poor eyesight. Often when one whiffs human scent, it will take off through the brush, running right at the hunter. This is because it can't distinguish the human. Naturally, the hunter believes the little animal to be "charging" him. Thus the overblown reputation of the javelina gets another follower.

But despite its dubious reputation, the javelina is a sporting game animal. They are quite plentiful in the brush country of South Texas and it is fascinating to hunt them in this thorny environment.

One of the favorite ways to hunt javelinas is with dogs. Since a javelina leaves a distinctive odor behind, from the musk bag on its hip, it can be easily trailed by dogs.

This is about as sure-fire as any hunting in Texas. There are people like Timmerman at Hondo who can line up hunts, for $50 per hunter, with two javelinas guaranteed. This type of hunting requires a trained dog pack, of course, and that's the secret. It doesn't take an experienced dog long to get on the track and bring the pigs to bay.

Although the javelina season runs concurrently with the deer season, Nov. 16-Dec. 31, there are many counties where there is no closed season on the pigs and there is no limit on the number you can kill. Winter, after deer season has closed, is the favorite hunting time. Then the weather is cold, which makes for good dog hunting, and there is no danger of snakes.

Counties that have no closed season and no specified bag limit include Crockett, Schleicher, Menard, Sutton, Kimble, Edwards, Uvalde, Medina, Edo, Zavala, Dimmit, and Webb, with the latter six being the best possibility. Karnea, Zapata, Jim Hogg and Brooks, all prime javelina counties, have no closed season but do have a hunter bag limit of two per year.

There are several ways to hunt javelina. One of the most convenient is to hunt them just as you would deer, from an elevated stand.

Get up on one of these windmill-like structures scattered through the brush country and wait and look. Sooner or later, you'll probably glimpse two or more of the pigs stealing into the open.

Another method is stalk hunting.

To me, this is the most fascinating method of all. You creep stealthily through the brush, always looking, listening and smelling. This is one kind of hunting where your nose is a definite asset. Often you can smell the pigs or hear them grunting and clicking their teeth long before you see them.

Probably more javelinas are bagged with deer rifles, by hunters out after deer, than by any other weapon. But actually, this is far too much firepower. The javelina isn't a tough animal and it doesn't require much bullet to bring one down.

When chasing them with dogs, most hunters prefer the ordinary .22 rimfire pistol. They move in close after the pigs have been brought to bay and shoot them in the head.

For stalk hunting, the .22 Magnum is a suitable cartridge. Also quite good is the .30/30 carbine, since most shots will be at close range and must be made quickly, before the pigs are swallowed by the dense brush.

The javelina is very quick on its feet, for short distances, but it doesn't travel very far in one spurt. Often you can stay on the trail of a herd and soon come upon them again.

Traditionally, javelinas are gregarious animals. Usually they'll wander in bands of five or more.

Despite what you might have heard to the contrary, the javelina isn't bad to eat. An old boar has a strong taste, but the younger ones are quite delectable.

A javelina is best barbecued. Its meat tends to be dry, as does the flesh of most wild game, so apply a liberal amount of barbecue sauce as you cook.
